ENTRIES CLOSE FRIDAY 24 FEBRUARY 2017

OUT OF SESSION PLAYING

We understand that school activities such as excursions or exams can clash with eisteddfod events. In these situations a competitor may play at another time for adjudication but will not be eligible for awards. Arrangements will need to be made with co-ordinators before the commencement of the piano sections.

DONATIONS FOR AWARDS

Most of the money from entry fees goes towards the running of the Eisteddfod, e.g. hire of venue, employment of adjudicator. We ask you to consider donating an amount for awards in our Piano Sections. You may wish to choose a specific section or make a general contribution or think big and donate the prize money for a championship section. Please indicate your wishes on the entry form. All donations are greatly appreciated.

THE GRAND CONCERT

Selections of performers are made by the section co-ordinator and in some instances by the concert organiser, in collaboration with the co-ordinator.

Performers for the Grand Concerts are selected from:- Championship and Scholarship winners (not necessarily Smile winners), multiple place winners, and other one-off high standard and entertaining performances to represent all sections of the Eisteddfod.

There is a maximum number of performers selected from each section, in order to keep each concert to 3 hours, and to reflect the participation in all sections of the Eisteddfod. Maximum numbers may vary each year.

Performers chosen for the concerts should contact the concert organiser, Gillian Herbert, on 02 6554 5624 as early as possible to confirm their place in the concert. Performers must have contacted Gillian at the latest by the date indicated on their invitation.

NEW IN 2017

Sections 158 to 163

We have decided to rethink the piano duet/trio sections this year. These sections have been in decline over the past few years so they are being revamped. Retitled Piano Ensemble, the sections will be noncompetitive, have no entry fee and be extremely flexible in their structure. Basically it is a chance for one performer to play in ensemble with any other musician or musicians. Adjudicator reports for the performances will be available. Also an acknowledgement of each Performer's participation in the Piano Ensemble section.

A few guidelines:

Enter one Performer.

Performer will play in an ensemble with a Partner or Partners. Partner/s don't need to be nominated on the entry form.

Partner/s may be of any age.

Partner/s may be any person including the Performer's teacher or parent.

Partner/s may play more than once. This is especially for teachers who may want to Partner several of their students.

The Ensemble may be:

Performer as Primo or First Player in a piano duet or trio

Performer with vocalist or any other instrument/s

Section 171

To mark our 50th Anniversary Year we are introducing a new special Section. This takes the form of a set work. We have commissioned Andrew Chubb to compose new works for this section. Hopefully there will be two pieces offering two different levels of difficulty.

Andrew is a composer, performer and teacher based in Newcastle. As a boy growing up in Taree, he competed in this Eisteddfod over many years. He also performed in many local concerts playing in ensembles with local musicians.

Cellist Louise Rourke was one of these musicians who played a lot with Andrew and she and her husband Peter have generously agreed to fund Andrew's commission fee. We sincerely thank them for that.

Everyone should enter under the one section number and entrants will be sorted into ages once entries have been collated.

For all details regarding the guidelines for this section, including difficulty level, and how to access the music, call Don Secomb on 0400 402090 or 02 6552 7549

We are very excited about both these new elements in our syllabus. We strongly urge teachers and students to please support us in this and give yourselves something new and different to work towards. Please feel free to ring Don if you have any enquiries at all about these new sections.
